

Personal profile

1. Personal Basic Information:

I'm an Assistant Professor in the School of Insurance and Economics of the University of International Business and Economics. Follow me at @chanyu_econ Email me via chanyu@uibe.edu.cn

2. Academic Background:

My research field is in labor and health economics. As of now, I examine the local effects of gender inequality, mobility to trade shocks. I also study the relationship between health and wealth.

3. Scientific Research Achievements:

The Role of Immigrants in the United States Labor Market and Chinese Import Competition ”
(Revise and resubmit, Journal of International Economics)

“Career Interruption and Gender-Age Inequality: Evidence from Chinese Import Competition ”
(Revise and Resubmit, Review of International Economics)

“Newborns during the Financial Crisis: Evidence from the 1980s’ Farm Debt Crisis” (Revise and Resubmit, Health Economics)

Great Expectations: The Persistent Effect of Origin Institutions on Immigrants' Political Trust (Draft Coming Soon) with Anastasia Litina, Barry Eichengreen, Cevat Aksoy, Cem Ozguzel

4. Professional teaching for international students:

Topics in Human Resource and Management