

Our esteemed Chinese language teacher Jia Xin is a dedicated educator with extensive experience in teaching Chinese as a foreign language. She holds a Master's degree in Teaching Chinese as a Foreign Language from Beijing Normal University, one of the top institutions in China. Throughout her academic career, she has been actively involved in education, utilizing her professional knowledge and unique teaching skills to provide high-quality Chinese language instruction to her students.

As a testament to her commitment to social welfare and public service, she was honored with the "Star Volunteer" title by the China Foundation for Poverty Alleviation for her participation in poverty alleviation education initiatives. She spent a year teaching at a high school in Yeongdeungpo-gu, South Korea, where she was responsible for planning and teaching Chinese language courses. To promote a deeper understanding and appreciation of the Chinese language, she also initiated community Chinese language courses in South Korea, targeting school teachers, staff, and students' parents who were interested in Chinese culture. Her efforts were well-received by both the school and the community.

As a seasoned university educator in , Jia Xin has long been engaged in teaching courses such as "Audiovisual Chinese for Business and Trade," "Reading Chinese for Business and Trade," and "An Overview of China". She possesses in-depth research and practical experience in the teaching of business and trade Chinese and is skilled at tailoring her instruction to meet the needs of students with diverse backgrounds. Additionally, she has been independently responsible for teaching Chinese language courses to beginner students in English-language programs, such as serving as a Chinese language teacher for a summer program of the United States, teaching Chinese to American educators.

Her teaching style is lively and engaging, adept at using intuitive and vivid multimedia resources to create a relaxed and enjoyable learning environment for her students. She consistently maintains a student-centered approach, focusing on individual development and striving to cultivate students' comprehensive language skills, as well as their understanding and appreciation of Chinese culture.

In summary, Jia Xin is a passionate and experienced educator with a distinguished record of teaching achievements in the field of Chinese as a foreign language. Her exceptional professional expertise and educational talent have been demonstrated in both her academic research and practical teaching, making significant contributions to the cultivation of international Chinese language learners.

