

Qi Lin is currently an Assistant Professor in the School of Information & Management at University of International Business and Economics. She received her Bachelor degree in Industrial Engineering in 2015 and her Ph.D. degree in Management Science and Engineering in 2021 both from Beihang University.

Her research interests include logistics and supply chain management, healthcare operations management, and health information management, particularly focusing on the application of game theory and mechanism design theory in management decision-making. She has published papers in international and Chinese journals such as European Journal of Operational Research and Journal of Management Sciences in China.